

Chr. Hansen is a global market leader in bioscience and natural ingredients. Since Christian D.A. Hansen founded the company in 1847, we have worked to pioneer science. Our product innovation is based on more than 30,000 microbial strains - we like to refer to them as "good bacteria."

This gives us the opportunity to address some very important global challenges such as food waste, food safety, healthy living, sustainable agriculture, reducing the use of antibiotics for livestock and much more.

In 2019, our efforts to create a future defined by natural and sustainable solutions were acknowledged when Chr. Hansen was ranked as the world's most sustainable company - an enormous tribute to the outstanding engagement among our employees. However, we know that our journey towards a sustainable future is far from over and that it can only be a reality, if we continue to find the most passionate and dedicated talents.

Will that be you?

CHR HANSEN

Improving food & health

Juliette Naud, Scientist.

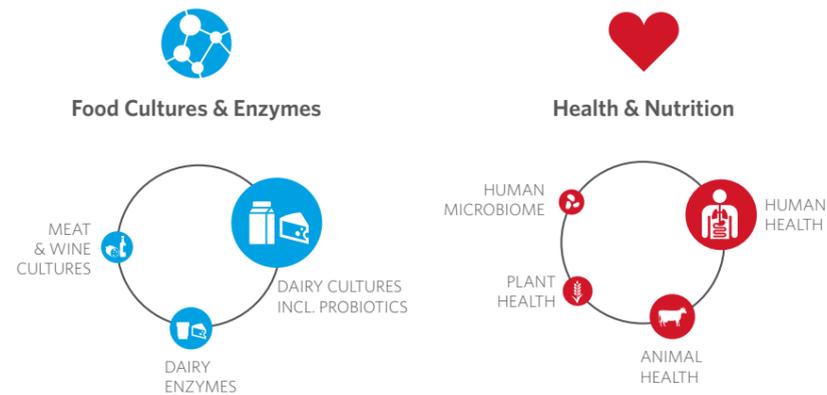

Join us in pioneering science

Our success is built on more than 140 years of innovation and a commitment to enhance the wider adoption of natural ingredients. We strive to create a collaborative culture, because working towards a better world, requires expertise from many different areas. Our legacy and success enable us to expand innovations into new areas, continuing to work towards a better world.

Passion for a meaningful cause

At Chr. Hansen we are passionate about improving food and health and growing a better world, naturally. Every day more than 3,600 employees go to work in our offices, labs and plants around the world to develop, produce and market natural products that can help reduce chemicals, antibiotics and sugar, salt and fat in food production. At every step of the value chain from farm to fork, we provide solutions to address the greatest challenges of today, guided by our motivation to create a healthy and more sustainable future.

The majority of our product innovation derives from our strong bioscience technology research and includes multiple product areas within our business units:

A global work horizon

With a broad range of positions and responsibilities, we offer a wealth of global opportunities. We have offices in more than 32 countries worldwide, offering both a local and an international working horizon with great opportunities to develop your career. We have a strong company culture where we rely on each other and work with freedom to deliver great results and work for a better world.

Set the agenda

At Chr. Hansen the journey from idea to implementation is short and therefore we always encourage our employees to take charge. Our company was founded by a true entrepreneur and that spirit still lives on, making sure we stay at the forefront of innovation.

Career opportunities at Chr. Hansen

Our founder was a true entrepreneur with an international mindset, and that mentality is still very present at Chr. Hansen today. Despite double-digit growth rates in recent years, we are still a non-hierarchical and agile organization. We strive to promote a collaborative culture instilled with respect and cooperation towards customers, colleagues and all other stakeholders.

As a company, we have a powerful purpose and a solid strategy. In order to maintain this, our employees remain our most valuable asset. We want to create a friendly and inspiring work environment, so our people feel as engaged as possible in their daily work. To us, engagement matters, and that is why we offer several opportunities for personal development.
